Dear Justine

I've had time to look at the Excel spreadsheets on the death data from the Latrobe valley. The daily data are more detailed than previous monthly estimates. There is the chance to do an improved analyses as the period of the fire (in days) would be more accurate compared with the previous analyses based simply on February and March 2014.

I'd like to do this analysis and publically release the results as I have done with my previous two analyses. Would this be allowable considering both any restrictions that were reported to you when you received the data, and any restrictions that you may have?

Regards,

Adrian
